

SUBSTITUTE ABSTRACT

92 A computer-aided method for parallel calculation of the operating point of electrical circuits has the circuit partitioned into a number of partitions in a first step, in which the charging method is used for the parallel calculation of the individual partitions.

2001 Staas & Halsey LLP